SUB-BRAND AUDIT · CAWLEY HOTELS

Bobby's — one name, 4 venues, no mark.

The term appears in 55 places across the brand guides and in guest reviews. It is described 4 different ways — coffee shop, lounge, cafe, bar. No lockup, palette or type sample exists for it anywhere in the pack.

The guides describe it at 3 venues; the estate shows 4 — Boardwalk runs it with no written mention.

> River House is the Cawley group's Stirling restaurant: a contemporary room above a loch, with Stirling Castle in the view, a private dining room for twelve and Bobby's, a bar that turns into a cocktail venue after dark.

WHAT EXISTS

- A name guests already use unprompted.
- Operational footprint across 4 venues: coffee shop, lounge, cafe, bar.
- Its own menus and pages at the venues that develop it.

WHAT IS MISSING

- No wordmark or lockup in any asset folder.
- No palette or type of its own.
- No single spelling: apostrophe and capitalisation both wander.
- Uneven guide coverage — a venue can operate it with no written mention.

THE DECISION TO TAKE

1. Room name. One approved descriptor, used everywhere. Cheapest, and stops the drift.
2. Sub-brand. A lockup, a palette and a page per venue — worth it only if it will be marketed.
3. Retire it. Fold every mention back into the venue name.
